

DANTE'S TIGHTROPE

A Lecture and Reading by Micheal O'Siadhail

Monday, September 16, 5:00pm
Tognino Hall, Duane Library
Fordham University Rose Hill Campus

Dante keeps his balance in the changing world of the medieval Italy of city states. How can he inspire us to do something comparable in our more complex and diverse world?

FORDHAM
reads Dante

Co-sponsored by the Modern Languages and Literature Department, the Institute of Irish Studies, and the Curran Center for American Catholic Studies

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY
THE JESUIT UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

THE FRANCIS AND ANN CURRAN CENTER
FOR AMERICAN CATHOLIC STUDIES