

In Defense of Land & People

Organizing for Environmental and Migration Justice

Learn about the primary challenges now facing the environmental justice movement in Central America, how today's political and economic developments shape environmentally-driven migration into the future, and the ways that the activism of past religious leaders such as the recently beatified Jesuit Rutilio Grande can inspire movements of resistance in our time.

Thursday, March 3, 2022

12:00 PM EST | Zoom

Panelists:

Philip Berryman, Emeritus prof., Temple U.
Amalia Lopez, Alianza Nacional contra la Privatización del Agua
Andres McKinley, Universidad Centroamericana (UCA)

